

180 YEARS OF MAKING OUR MARK

In 2026, Cross celebrates 180 years of shaping the art of writing. Since 1846, we have believed that putting pen to paper is more than an action, it's a meaningful ritual deserving of instruments crafted with intention, skill, and permanence. Founded in Providence, Rhode Island, A.T. Cross became America's first manufacturer of fine writing instruments, establishing a standard that continues to guide us today.

From the beginning, Cross has paired timeless design with technical innovation to create writing instruments engineered for flawless performance and everyday use. Built to endure beyond trends, Cross pens have earned a place not only in history, but on desks, in pockets, and as gifts for life's most meaningful moments—symbols of trust, heritage, and lasting relevance.

Every Cross writing instrument is crafted for a lifetime of enjoyment and backed by our Lifetime Mechanical Warranty. A promise we have upheld for decades and one that remains a defining distinction in the fine writing category. As we mark 180 years, we invite you to MAKE YOUR MARK.

OUR HERITAGE

WE'VE BEEN WRITING OUR STORY SINCE 1846.

INVENTING. INNOVATING. ALWAYS EVOLVING.

Since our earliest days, Cross has rewritten the rules for putting pen to paper.

1846

A.T. Cross Company was founded in Providence, Rhode Island by English craftsman Richard Cross, specializing in crafting beautifully ornate pencil casing in fine gold and silver.

1879

Richard's son, Alonzo Cross, invents the first propel-repel stylographic pen, the technical forerunner to today's modern ballpoint pen.

1953

The iconic Century® ballpoint pen was introduced with Ellery Boss' groundbreaking internal design patent.

Introducing a slimmer, easily replaceable ink refill.

1993

Townsend® becomes known as The Pen of Presidents, used by leaders across the globe to this day. Century® II also makes history as the pen chosen by both parties for official White House signing ceremonies.

1889

The first Cross Fountain Pen debuts with the name Peerless™ to signify its unmatched technology and design.

1946

The Century® Pencil debuts in gold and silver finishes to celebrate the Cross Company's Centennial.

180th

ANNIVERSARY LIMITED EDITION

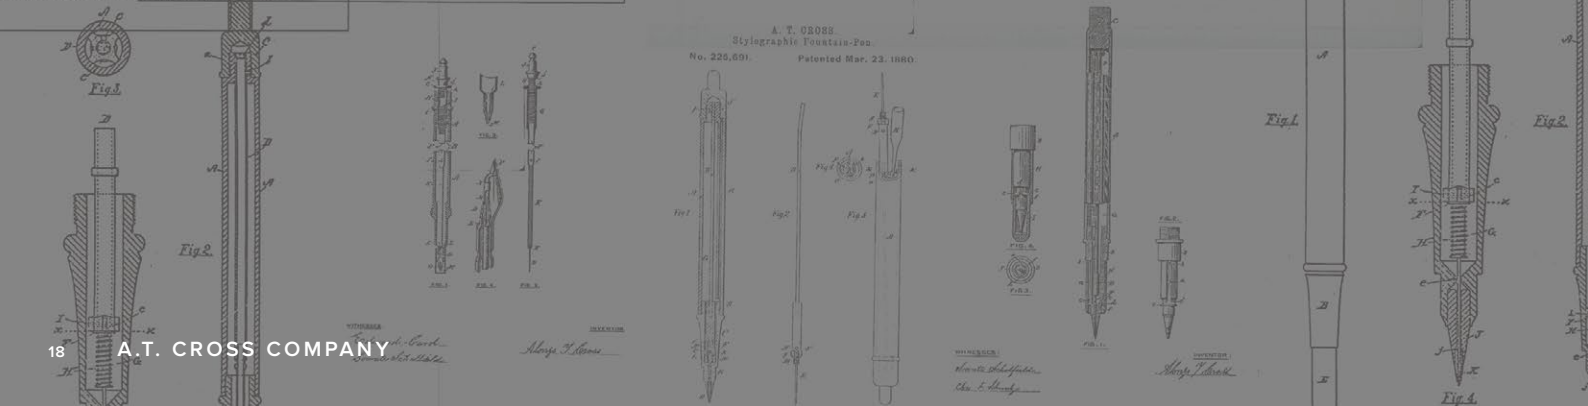

The Cross 180th Anniversary Collection celebrates nearly two centuries of craftsmanship with a limited edition of 1,846 numbered Century® II pens. Each features a platinum-plated finish with a triple-stripe pattern and vintage green enamel inlay, crowned with a commemorative 180th Anniversary moniker.

In the summer of 1876, Alonzo was awarded his first two U.S. patents for pencil cases and for pen holders. The first of Alonzo's series of patents for the stylographic fountain pen combinations, and for stylographics were filed in 1876 and granted in 1877. One of the first of these patents No. 189,304 was reissued as No. 9890, was for a hollow cylindrical-needle ink feed that either served as the stylographic writing point, or had a right angle curve just before it terminated against a traditionally shaped, curved fountain pen nib. To fill the pen, one held a finger over the point, unscrewed the top portion, and the central spindle, a central needle controlled the ink valve and kept the ink from leaking. When the top was screwed back on, the ink valve was secured inside.

The second 1877 patent, No. 191,798, filed just three months after the first, then reissued as No. 9716, described a straight forward stylographic pen with a tapered end, hollow, cylindrical needle (with or without the nib) that also serves as the point. Overflowing ink was probably still a problem because this patent's improvement was for:

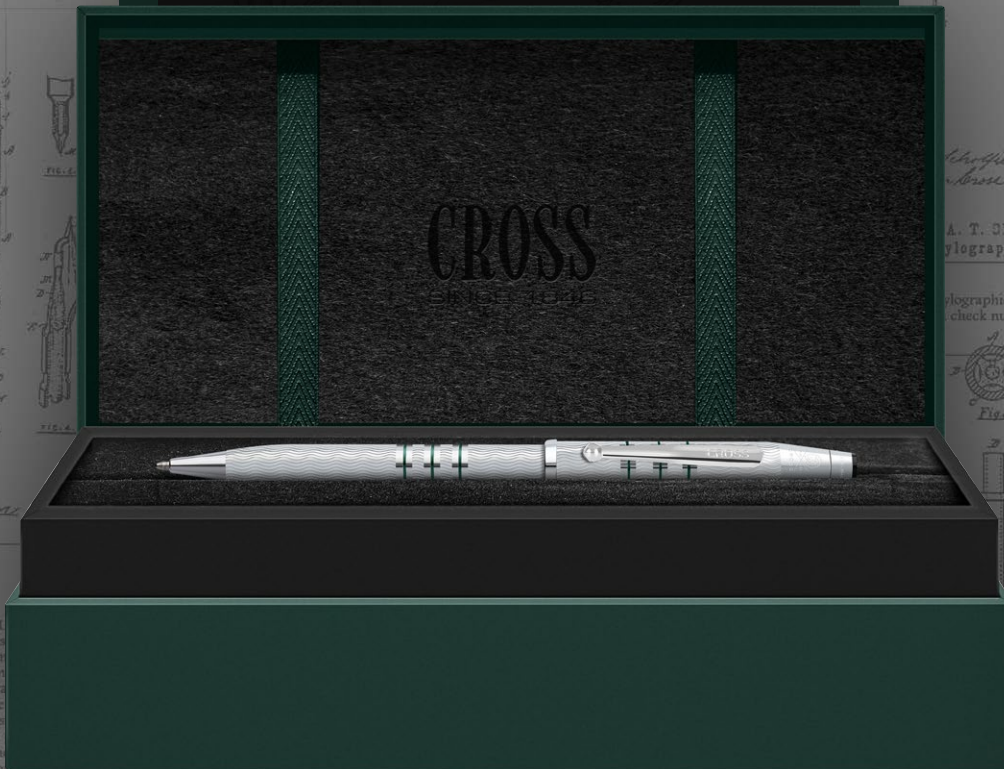

"more effectually preventing the ink from being forced from the ink reservoir back into the tube and thence out the upper vent orifice."

No. 232,804.

Presented in a custom luxury gift box with vintage-inspired details and accompanied by a hand-signed certificate of authenticity, this limited edition product is both a refined writing instrument and a tribute to Cross's enduring legacy.

THEY BROUGHT HOME THE CUP ...and pens and pencils, too

The Davis Cup took home more than the coveted silver cup. They also received some handsome Cross pens and pencil sets.

The Cross pen sets were received, "with appreciation," Chairman of the U.S. Tennis Association. "Please accept our thanks for such a generous gesture."

Winning the cup in 1987 — and quite decisively — was the six-member Swedish team. It was, however, a victory that took well over six months to win.

Unlike other international tennis tournaments, Davis Cup matches begin months before the final round — on courts all over the world. Courts can vary considerably — clay, carpet, grass, cement and, yes, even cow dung are some of the materials used in the different courts.

Winners of this first round reassemble several months later — again on courts scattered from the mountains of South America to the valleys of India. And then, after a five-month break, the final championship round is held just before Christmas.

More than 70 nations compete for the silver cup, giving the competition its recognition and prestige. The cup, which was made by Boston silversmiths Stronach and Low, is now worth $125,000 and resides in the current champions' clubhouse.

"It's fitting that Cross be present at this prestigious event," says Web Wilder, Executive Advertising Manager. "The Davis Cup is a national treasure, and it's fitting that Cross be present at this prestigious event."

FLYING HIGH WITH CROSS

Passengers aboard British Airways' Concorde not only get a quick flight across the Atlantic — they also receive a Gray by Cross pen as a souvenir.

Cross supplies British Airways with a customized pen that is used for a number of promotional purposes and is presented to all round-trip transatlantic Concorde passengers. The Gray by Cross pen — chosen to match the color of the aircraft — sports a laser engraving of the Concorde logo.

"We're very proud of the workmanship that produced such a 'good-will ambassador' for this important customer," says John Lawler, Vice President of International. "It's a beautiful pen."

Four executives from British Airways, a large customer of Cross (U.K.) Ltd., visited the Lincoln facility this summer to view production of their laser-engraved pen caps and to present A. T. Cross Company with a replica of the airline's super-sonic Concorde. The gift was a way of thanking Cross for the outstanding service and quality that British Airways has come to expect.

British Airways is one of A.T. Cross U.K.'s largest industrial customers. "The business we receive from the airline has grown substantially," believes John Lawler. "This is a result of the fine quality and the service that Cross employees in three nations — Britain, Ireland and the United States — provide this customer."

In addition to the sales themselves, the exposure Cross receives as a result of its relationship with British Airways is highly beneficial. Distributors around the world may want to use similar arrangements with airlines in their countries.

Right, representatives of British Airways, while in Lincoln to view production of their Concorde laser-engraved pen caps, present John Lawler with a replica of the Concorde supersonic jet. L-r: Andy Patsalides, Merchandising Executive, British Airways; Michael Patejot, British Airways, Senior Buyer, Operations USA; Pauline Tessier, Supervisor, Name Engraving; Sandra Willoughby, Assistant Buyer, and Martin Webb, senior buyer, (both of British Airways, U.K.); and John Lawler, Vice President, International.

LIGHT AS AIR.

Cross Lume™, the redesigned Bailey Light™ features the same lightweight resin body, polished chrome appointments and a new double-banded centre ring, adding modern flair to this affordable everyday classic.

TIP TECHNOLOGIES

Cross luxury writing instruments are available in a wide variety of tips to suit many consumers' needs.

Depending on the item, the tip technologies available are:

FOUNTAIN PEN

- One of the oldest styles of writing instruments, Fountain Pen nibs actually adapt to your own personal grip and writing style over time, creating lines on the page that — like your signature — are your own. Ink flows by capillary action from an ink reservoir to the Fountain Pen nib, which is the delicate split metal mechanism that contacts the paper. A favourite of the true connoisseur, Fountain Pen are each a work of art in their own right.
- Cross offers nibs in three widths, depending on the collection: Medium, Fine & Extra-fine
- Cross Fountain Pens support two different feed systems:
 - Cartridge, or a replaceable capsule full of ink, which is inserted into the neck of the nib.
 - Converter, which allows the writer to load liquid bottled ink and insert it into the writing instrument.

BALLPOINT PEN

- The Ballpoint is the most popular tip technology and in many ways the simplest. A Ballpoint Pen uses a small rotating ball made of carbide to disperse ink as you write. This ball acts as a buffer between the material you're writing on and the ink inside the pen. The ball rotates freely and rolls out the ink as it is continuously fed from the ink reservoir.
- Ballpoint Pens are not capped, but instead retract and store via a rotating mechanism in the barrel.
- Low maintenance and easily refillable, the Ballpoint Pen is the option for the everyday pen user.

SELECTIP® ROLLERBALL

- Our most versatile tip technology is proprietary to Cross, and is known as Selectip® Rollerball. A Selectip® allows you to “select” the kind of refill you want to use in this writing instrument from the following options:
 - Gel Rollerball (a mix of Ballpoint ease of use and the elegance of Fountain Pen ink-flow)
 - Jumbo Ballpoint (Ballpoint technology with a bolder, fuller write-out)
 - Porous-Point (most commonly known as a Flair or Marker Point)
- The inks in a rollerball are generally aqueous based. This results in a smoother, fluid (or wet) lay-down of ink similar to a Fountain Pen. Aqueous based inks, due to their fine fluidity, also tend to dry out quicker, thus care must be taken to always cap, or retract, Selectip® pens between uses.
- Unlike Ballpoint Pens, most Selectip® pens have a separate cap which prevents the ink from drying during storage.

GEL INK PEN

- The tip technology of gel ink has been rapidly gaining popularity over the past few years, and Cross now has several retractable gel ink writing instruments.
- Gel inks are generally aqueous based. This results in a smoother, fluid (or wet) lay-down of ink similar to a Fountain Pen.
- Aqueous-based inks, due to their fine fluidity, also tend to dry out quicker, thus care must be taken to always retract the tip after use.

MECHANICAL PENCIL

- Offered in 0.5mm and 0.7mm widths, depending on the product, to suit different writing preferences.
- Engineered for smooth, consistent writing.
- Produces dark, crisp lines, ideal for technical drawings, note-taking, and everyday writing.
- Break-resistant lead minimizes interruptions.
- Refillable for superior quality and longevity.
